Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 27 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Wet and windy at times and feeling much cooler.

Today:
Heavy rain and strong winds quickly clearing from northern and eastern areas. Thereafter, sunny spells and blustery showers are expected, some heavy. It will feel significantly cooler than recently, especially when exposed to the strong wind. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
A showery and breezy night around coastal areas, but inland areas should see some clear spells. Much cooler than of late too. Showers becoming more frequent later in the southwest. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tuesday:
A wet day with frequent showers and longer spells of rain, particularly through the morning, early afternoon, and evening. Remaining breezy and feeling rather cool given the wind and rain. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Drier and sunnier on Wednesday after early showers. Further wet and windy weather for both Thursday and Friday. Temperatures remaining significantly cooler.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.